It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND LABOR,
BUREAU OF THE CENSUS,
Washington, D. C., February 25, 1910.

SIR: This pamphlet consists mainly of a translation of the official French edition of the Second Decennial Revision of the International Classification of Diseases and Causes of Death as adopted by the International Commission at Paris, July 1 to 3, 1900, for use during the decade beginning January 1, 1910. It is intended for the temporary use of American registration officials until a new edition of the Manual of the International Classification shall be available, and has been prepared under the direction of Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician for vital statistics of the Bureau of the Census.

Very respectfully,

Director of the Census.

HON. CHARLES NAGEL,
Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

INTRODUCTION.

The Manual of International Classification of Causes of Death issued by the Bureau of the Census in 1902¹ has been employed very generally by those state and city registration officials of the United States who are charged with the compilation of mortality statistics. By its use a much greater degree of comparability has been brought about in the statistics of causes of death. The Second Decennial Revision of the International Classification, which took place at Paris, July 1 to 3, 1909, at the invitation and under the auspices of the French Government, will make necessary a new edition of the Manual so that it may serve as a guide to American registration officials for the ten years beginning January 1, 1910.

The revised Manual, it is expected, will be a work of far more useful and authoritative character for the purposes of American physicians and registration officials than the old one. It will contain (1) the terms of the French list, or at least as many of them as may be used properly in English, and (2) the terms found upon medical certificates of causes of death as reported by American physicians, and in addition (3) the terms of the Nomenclature of Diseases of the Royal College of Physicians of London,² for over forty years the authoritative guide of English physicians in regard to the proper designation of diseases and causes of death, and also (4) those of the Bellevue Hospital Nomenclature of Diseases and Conditions.³ In its preparation the assistance of the Committee on Nomenclature of the American Medical Association will be of special value. The members of this committee are Dr. Frank P. Foster, chairman, New York, N. Y.; Dr. J. Chalmers Da Costa, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. W. A. Newman Dorland, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. Alexander Duane, New York, N. Y.; and Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, Ann Arbor, Mich. The committee is operating under the following resolutions unanimously adopted by the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association on June 3, 1908:¹

A new edition, with references to the International Classification, is now in preparation (1910).

Resolved, By the American Medical Association:

1. That the International Classification of Diseases and Causes of Death be recommended for all official mortality and morbidity statistical reports.

5. That after the revision of the International Classification in 1910 [date subsequently changed to 1909] the Nomenclature of Diseases be recast in corresponding form, so that there will be available under a uniform arrangement and with precise agreement in the meaning of terms (1) International Classification of Causes of Death; (2) International Classification of Sickness and Disability; (3) International Nomenclature of Diseases and Injuries.

The advancement of the date of the meeting of the International Commission from 1910 to 1909, which change was made by the French Government primarily at the request of the Bureau of the Census, so that the revised classification would be available for use in connection with the mortality statistics of the United States for the calendar year corresponding to the decennial enumeration of 1910, necessarily resulted in some changes in the general plan of procedure proposed by the committee of the American Medical Association. It was intended originally to take up the question of the nomenclature of diseases before proceeding to the subject of their statistical classification, but the earlier meeting of the International Commission rendered it necessary to formulate the suggestions relative to the revision of the International Classification before questions of nomenclature could be considered. A full statement of the work performed by the committee, with the cooperation of committees of other national medical organizations and sections of the association and with various departments of the Government, may be found in the text of the annual report on Mortality Statistics, 1907, beginning on page 18. The preliminary report of the Census Commission to the International Commission of Revision was presented in Census Bulletin 104, Mortality Statistics, 1908, pages 25-32, and may also be found as Appendix II of the annual report on Mortality Statistics, 1908. It contains the official list of English titles which was adopted so that the International Classification might appear in precisely the same form when used by different English-speaking offices.

¹ See Journal of the American Medical Association, June 13, 1908, p. 2005, or Mortality Statistics, 1907, p. 19. Sections 2, 3, and 4, which relate to the preliminary work of the revision of the International Classification, are omitted.

SCOPE OF THE PRESENT PAMPHLET.

The present pamphlet is by no means equivalent to the former Manual, much less to the revised Manual now in preparation, in the completeness of the terms included under the various titles of the International Classification. It is merely a translation, as nearly literal as practicable, of the first official publication of the results of the International Commission's work as given in the original French edition prepared by the secretary-general, Dr. Jacques Bertillon.¹ It is neither a complete nomenclature of diseases, like the Nomenclature of the Royal College of Physicians of London, which provides a complete list of definite terms and accepted synonyms for the naming of all diseases, nor a scientific classification of diseases, in the sense of presenting a logical arrangement of morbid conditions. It is nothing more or less than a list of statistical titles, under which individual terms designating diseases or morbid conditions as reported by physicians may be more or less satisfactorily grouped for statistical purposes.

The peculiar use of the word "classification," as applied to works of this character and as understood in the practical work of a registration office, was mentioned in a recent report,² and it is only necessary to say that the process of "classifying" a cause of death under the International "Classification," relates only to its assignment to the specific title which includes it; it has nothing to do with the theoretical arrangement of these titles under the general classes, such as "Diseases of the Nervous System and of the Organs of Special Sense," "Diseases of the Circulatory System," etc. Such groups of diseases, coordinated upon a theoretical basis, are becoming of less and less practical importance. It was very nearly resolved by the International Commission to do away with them, and the Registrar-General of England and Wales has for some years discontinued the use of similar "classes" formerly employed in the English mortality reports. The sole purpose of the so-called "Classification" at present is to exhibit a list of uniform and comparable titles of diseases, or groups of diseases, and of other causes of death, each with a precise inclusion of individual terms as reported by physicians in different countries, so that the international statistics of morbidity and mortality will be as nearly comparable as possible. The word "nomenclature" will be employed in the translation only as indicating a statistical list or "classification" and not a true nomenclature in the English sense.

The usefulness of the International Classification for the purpose of facilitating comparison of the mortality statistics of various countries has been recognized generally, and the extensive list of countries that have employed this system during the past decade is an assurance that the movement for uniformity, which has attained so high a measure of success, will never be abandoned. The great convenience that attends comparisons of data for countries using the International Classification is well shown in the international tables of causes of death arranged by M. Lucien March in the Statistique Internationale de mouvement de la population, 1905.

The International Classification in its origin was intended to represent the most desirable methods in use in the various registration offices of the world and has therefore been readily adopted with little loss of continuity of statistics by the countries using it. It should be noted that not all the countries now using the International Classification were represented in the International Commission of Revision, whose constitution is given on page 14. For example, no delegate for Canada was present, although the Canadian Province of Quebec was perhaps the first of any state or province in the Western Hemisphere to adopt the International Classification. Argentina, Japan, and other countries making prominent use of it were not actually represented, so that the present extension of the International Classification is much greater than that indicated by the list of delegates.

Moreover, it is extremely gratifying that the Registrar-General of England and Wales has decided to approximate the English classification to the International, as shown by the following extract from his last report:¹

The necessity for agreement as to classification, as well as the progress of medical science since the last revision of the present classification in 1901, will probably be found to entail some further modifications, and it is proposed to take advantage of this opportunity to approximate the English classification to the International System so far as may be found possible without destroying the valuable continuity of our records. The latter system, which is based upon the work of Dr. Farr, is in use in Canada and Australia and in many foreign countries. The advantages, for the purpose of international comparison, which would attend this course, are therefore obvious, and there is reason to believe that a great deal can be done in this direction without any serious sacrifice of continuity. An instance of this is to be found in Dr. Stevenson's treatment of diarrhoeal diseases in his letter on the causes of death; and it is hoped that this preliminary statement of what is proposed will promote expression of responsible opinion upon the various points to be decided.

It will be gathered from the above statement of the difficulties involved that the change could not be introduced without some increase of staff and expenditure, and that this Department has, therefore, not a free hand in the matter. In view, however, of the representations which have reached me and with which I have reason to believe your

Board is in sympathy, I have thought it right to refer to the question, and to mention that I am carefully investigating it with a view to determining whether the practical difficulties can be surmounted without such a disproportionate increase of the cost of providing these statistics as would make it useless to put forward the proposal for sanction.

The change, I may add, could not in any case be introduced before the preparation of the Report for the year 1911 owing to the requirements of the Decennial Supplement.

ITS PURPOSE AND PRACTICAL USE.

The present pamphlet, except for the introductory portion, is a translation of the original French presentation of the revised classification, showing (1) the Tabular List, or the titles of the revised classification as finally arranged by the International Commission and numbered in order from 1 (Typhoid fever) to 189 (Cause of death not specified or ill-defined); and (2) the Index of Diseases (Dictionnaire des maladies), in which each term designating a disease, symptom, lesion, complication, or mode of injury, which appears either as a title or a contained term under any title in the Tabular List, is referred to its appropriate number in that list.

The Tabular List is preceded by a comparison of the detailed and abridged lists of titles of causes of sickness and causes of death, and also of causes of stillbirths. The lists used for morbidity and mortality statistics are presented in parallel columns (not in the original) for the purpose of bringing out the distinctive differences of the classification as used for returns of sickness and for returns of causes of death. The subdivisions of titles given in the Tabular List, and referred to in the Index, such as "75A," "75B," etc., are for use in connection with statistics of morbidity only; no attention whatever need be paid to them by registration offices engaged in the compilation of causes of death.

References in the Index are double: (1) To the titles of the detailed list of causes of sickness or death, and (2) to the abridged classification. For the main statistical tables of states and cities of considerable size, the data relative to causes of death should always be given in the detailed form, so that there will probably be little or no use for the references to the abridged classification. Moreover, the abridged or other condensed lists of causes can be obtained readily from selection of the titles of the detailed classification, so that it will not be necessary to make use of them, except for special purposes or by offices whose data will not warrant the use of more detailed analysis. It is important, for the purpose of international comparisons, that at least the abridged list of causes be used by all offices.

Some differences will be found in the official English titles and the literal translations of the French titles, as indicated in brackets in the Tabular List. Thus the French form of title No. 1 is "Fièvre typhoïde (Typhus abdominal)." This is rendered into English simply as "Typhoid fever," and the literal translation, "Typhoid fever (abdominal typhus)," is bracketed for reference merely and because this form of presentation makes it unnecessary to add any of the omitted terms as inclusions under the title. "Abdominal typhus" is not an English expression at all and adds nothing to the precision of the statement "Typhoid fever." It is highly undesirable to cumber the English titles with objectionable or unnecessary terms, and hence "Typhoid fever," "Typhus fever," "Malaria," etc., are given in the approved form without qualification.

Many terms that frequently occur in the usage of American physicians will not be found in the Index or Tabular List. It was recognized by the International Commission that a special list would have to be prepared for each language, as there are many expressions in English, for example, for which no equivalents exist in French medical nomenclature, and vice versa. Until a complete and thoroughly comprehensive Index can be prepared, in connection with the revised edition of the Manual, it will be necessary to use the present Index in conjunction with that of the old edition of the Manual. This can be done readily in most cases by comparing the assignments of similar terms and by noting the general inclusions of the revised titles.

The Tabular List and Index were translated separately, and no effort was made to compare them systematically or to see that all terms contained in the one were given correctly in the other. Some differences have been noted and corrected, and others will doubtless be found in practical use. As a change may require reference to the detailed proceedings, which are not yet at hand, it was thought inexpedient to attempt more at the present time.

In the spelling of the names of diseases the recommendations¹ of the Committee on Nomenclature and Classification of Diseases of the American Medical Association have been followed, except that, with the full approval of the chairman, Dr. Frank P. Foster, who has kindly examined the proofs of this translation, it seemed expedient to employ diphthongs in the form of ligatures rather than the parenthetical forms suggested.

¹Your committee recommend that in all names of diseases involving anatomical terms the nomenclature adopted by the German Anatomical Society, generally known as the Basel'sche Nomina Anatomica (BNA), be adhered to. While we do not assert that that nomenclature is faultless, we believe that it is far superior to anything of the sort that has been proposed before, and we realize that it is sure to be employed extensively in text-books of anatomy. It involves the retention of all diphthongs in Latin words, though not in the form of ligatures. The London Nomenclature gives the diphthongs in separate letters in its Latin list, but as ligatures in its English list. We recommend printing them all in separate letters, but in the English list it seems proper to make a concession to those who look on certain Latin words as "Anglicised"—who, for example, write anemia instead of anæmia and diarrhea instead of diarrhœa. In such words we propose to inclose the first letter of the diphthong in parenthesis marks—thus, an(a)emia and diarrh(o)ea. Adherence to the Basel'sche Nomina Anatomica requires also the substitution of thyreoid for thyroid, choroid for choroid, Falloppian for Fallopiian, etc. In the interest of uniformity we recommend that such substitution be made. We also recommend certain spellings which, though now uncommon, have received dictionary recognition in the past and are made prominent in the London Nomenclature, such as leuchæmia and septicæmia instead of leucæmia and septicæmia. We believe that no other spelling is defensible.—Journal of the American Medical Association, June 19, 1909, Vol. LII, p. 2023.

NOMENCLATURE OF DISEASES

(STATISTICS OF MORBIDITY—STATISTICS OF CAUSES OF DEATH)

AGREED UPON BY THE

INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION

CHARGED WITH THE DECENNIAL REVISION

OF THE INTERNATIONAL NOSOLOGICAL NOMENCLATURE

(Bertillon Nomenclature)

IN ITS

SECOND SESSION — 1909

(Paris, July 1, 2, and 3, 1909)¹

¹The above is the translation of the cover (no title-page) of the first official publication of the detailed results of the Second Decennial Revision by Dr. Jacques Bertillon, secretary-general. The Articles of Agreement (Convention) follow immediately, on page 1, there being no introductory matter. This is, therefore, a complete translation of the entire document and one which follows, as far as possible, the exact order and arrangement of the original. For statement as to the use of the word "nomenclature" in English, see Introduction, p. 9.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT

SIGNED BY THE DELEGATES OF THE TWENTY GOVERNMENTS LISTED BELOW.

The delegates agree to recommend to their respective governments the adoption of the nomenclatures of causes of death which follow this agreement in order to insure the uniformity and comparability of statistics of causes of death beginning January 1, 1910.

They recognize that it is desirable that this nomenclature should be revised every ten years, the next revision to take place in the course of the year 1919. In default of any different arrangement, the Government of France will assume the duty of convoking, for that object and on that date, a new International Commission.

The countries which were not represented on the commission or which have not signed the present agreement may become parties thereto upon their request. In testimony whereof, the delegates have signed their names.

NOSOLOGICAL NOMENCLATURES.

ADOPTED BY THE INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION.

GENERAL OBSERVATION.—Statistics of the sick and of deaths by causes should be prepared by ages in as detailed a manner as possible, and should show the following age groups at least:

*From 0 to 1 year;
From 1 to 19 years;
From 20 to 39 years;
From 40 to 59 years;
Over 60 years.*

*It seems necessary to divide, if possible, the second age group as follows:
From 1 to 9 years; from 10 to 19 years.¹*

² The titles preceded by an asterisk have not been changed since 1900. This classification, which closely resembles the one opposite it, is especially applicable to statistics of civil and military hospitals and other institutions which record both diseases and deaths.

The numbers of the titles are the same in this classification and the one opposite. Hence the special titles for statistics of diseases do not have a special number, but have the number of the title to which they are related most closely (which is the title following), and are distinguished by a letter. These titles are printed in italics.

The titles followed by a small letter a after the number, are optional.

¹ "9 bis. Dont: Croup." This expression is not readily translated into English. Its purpose is to indicate that in addition to the regular statement of deaths from diphtheria and croup, a supplemental statement may be made, if desired, of the deaths reported from croup. All the deaths included in the supplemental statement, which in the translation is designated as "9a," are, of course, included in the total represented by title No. 9. The purpose of the supplemental statement is to show, when such a showing is of importance, how many of the total number of deaths returned from the aggregate diphtheria and croup were reported by physicians under the somewhat doubtful and indefinite term "croup." Prior to the revision of 1909 the directly opposite plan of showing how many of the deaths from diphtheria and croup were reported from "diphtheria" was in use. The Bureau of the Census will follow the same plan as formerly, which is much more readily understood by English readers, of showing both constituents of title No. 9, as follows:

9. Diphtheria and croup:

“Whenever an adult woman [in the childbearing period] is reported to have died from a disease which might have been puerperal, the certificate should be sent back to the signer in order that he may state explicitly whether or not the disease was puerperal in character. ¹ This term may be taken to represent all those direct consequences of traumatism during labor as affecting the life of the child which have heretofore been classified by the Bureau of the Census under the title "Injuries at birth," as a subdivision of the title "Other external violence." The number of deaths so compiled is quite considerable, amounting for the registration area of the United States during the year 1908 to no less than 3,003, or 5.72 per cent of the total number (52,421) compiled from violent causes. No provision was formerly made under the International Classification for deaths of this kind, owing, probably, to the fact that deaths of infants are, in France and some other European countries, returned as stillbirths if they occur prior to the date of registration. While there was some reason for including such deaths under external causes, the change to title No. 152, of which "Injuries at birth" will be made a subdivision, will probably on the whole commend itself to American registrars, and moreover is in full agreement with the classification in use by the Registrar-General of England and Wales.
